

CVs of Candidate Board Members of ELINOIL S.A.

Aligizakis Ioannis

Mr. Ioannis Aligizakis holds a degree in Political and Legal Sciences from the University of Athens and a Master's degree in Marketing & Management from a university in England. He began his career at ELINOIL in 1975. In 1988, he assumed responsibility for the Commercial Directorate of ELINOIL, and since 2006 he has held the position of Chief Executive Officer of the Company, while also serving on the Boards of Directors of the Group's subsidiaries and affiliated companies.

During his tenure, ELINOIL has evolved into an integrated Energy Group with a presence in major energy markets and is today one of the country's largest exporting groups. He is actively involved in matters concerning the Petroleum Products Trading sector, participating in the Hellenic Association of Petroleum Marketing Companies (SEEPE). Since 2007, he has continuously been a member of the Association's Board of Directors, and since 2015 he has been heading its administration, alternately serving as President or Vice President.

Karnessis Angelique

Ms. Angelique Karnessis holds a degree in Economics from the London School of Economics and Political Science and a degree in Law from BPP University, London. In addition, she holds a postgraduate degree in Finance from the London School of Economics and Political Science. She has extensive experience in the shipping industry, private wealth management, and business administration, as well as experience and capability in legal and commercial negotiations, with due attention to detail and strong problem-solving skills in a demanding and competitive environment. She has worked as a chartering broker and claims handler for Cyprus Sea Lines S.A., and she is currently employed in the Commercial Department of European Product Carriers Ltd.

Since 2018, she has been serving on the Board of Directors of ELINOIL as a non-executive member.

Eleftheria Karnessis, daughter of Spyridon

Ms. Eleftheria Karnesi holds a degree in Law, a degree in Financial Mathematics, and a PhD in Applied Mathematics. She has worked since 2011 in shipping companies in Greece and abroad. From 2021 to the present, she has been employed at the shipping company EUROPEAN PRODUCT CARRIERS LTD in Greece. She speaks English fluently.

Diamantopoulos Ioannis

Mr. Ioannis Diamantopoulos was born in 1968 in Athens. He holds a degree from the Department of Mathematics of the University of Athens and an M.Sc. with Distinction in Information Technology from Queen Mary and Westfield College (QMW), University of London. He speaks English and French and has attended more than 60 business seminars in Greece and abroad.

His career began in 1992 as a lecturer in Management through Information Technology. In 1993, he continued his career in the Marketing Department of Toyota Hellas, where he successively held the positions of Marketing Analyst, Assistant Manager of Marketing Planning, and Head of Planning and Research. In 1995, he assumed the position of Project Leader with responsibility for the company's expansion into the Balkans, and one year later he was appointed General Manager of Toyota Amfitheas S.A.

Two years later, he became Project Leader for the introduction of the LEXUS brand in Greece, and in 1999 he was appointed General Manager of Lexus Hellas. Since 2001, he has continued his professional career at ELINOIL S.A., having for many years been a member of the Company's Council of Directors and having undertaken numerous positions of responsibility at Director level in various areas, such as Marketing, Public Relations, Business Development, Solid Fuels, and Retail Fuel Stations.

Drollas Leonidas

Mr. Leonidas Drollas attended Athens College, from which he graduated with honors. In 1975, he was admitted to the London School of Economics, where he also completed his PhD. After graduating, he worked in London at the Commodities Research Unit, and in 1977 he joined British Petroleum.

At BP, he worked in the Corporate Planning Department (1980–1986). While at BP, he was seconded for two years to the Confederation of British Industry (1986–1988), where he held the position of Deputy Director of Economics and completed two major studies. In 1989, he served as Chief Economist at the Centre for Global Energy Studies, which was founded by Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, former Minister of Petroleum of Saudi Arabia.

In 2011, he became Director of the CGES, also holding the title of Chief Economist. During his tenure at CGES, he dealt with a wide range of issues, including the need for hedging in the oil market, shipping requirements for oil, fuel demand, gasoline demand in the United States, oil pipeline tariffs, OPEC oil quota policies, oil demand from China, U.S. natural gas demand, and many other topics.

Platis Dimitrios

Mr. Dimitrios Platis was born in 1956 in Athens. He studied Law and Political Science at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. In 1981, he was appointed to the Diplomatic Corps and served in various posts, including the Permanent Greek Mission to the United Nations (1987–1992) and the Permanent Greek Mission to NATO (1995–1996).

From late 1997 until late 1999, he served as Ambassador of Greece to Albania, while from early 2000 to 2004 he served as Consul General of Greece in New York. He returned to Athens and, in 2007, was appointed Secretary General of the Ministry of Education, and subsequently assumed the position of Secretary General of the Ministry of Transport and Communications until the end of 2009.

On 31 December 2009, he resigned from the Diplomatic Corps and, on 1 January 2010, entered the private sector. He worked for the MYTILINEOS Group as General Manager of International Business Development. In 2015, he founded his own company, GLOBAL VISA CENTER WORLD (GVCW), and participated in an international public tender of the Greek Ministry of Foreign Affairs for the selection of the External Service Provider assisting Greek consular authorities in the issuance of visas for citizens of non-Schengen countries. He won the tender and assumed the duties of Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of his company, which from 1 January 2018 to the present has been the exclusive External Service Provider of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in 11 countries and 71 cities worldwide, employing approximately 350 staff members (www.gvcworld.eu).

He speaks English, French, Italian, and German.

Sorotos Christos

Christos Sorotos is a graduate of Political and Economic Studies of the Law School of the University of Athens and of Athens College. He has over forty years of professional experience in the banking and financial sector, with specialization in crisis management, financial restructuring, and corporate governance, in Greece, the United States, the United Kingdom, Cyprus, and elsewhere.

Throughout his career, he has served as Chief Executive Officer, Vice Chairman, and Chairman of Boards of Directors at major credit institutions and subsidiaries of international banking groups, including Citibank, Bank of America, the National Bank of Greece, Eurobank (EFG Group), Bank of Cyprus, and the Piraeus Bank Group. He has undertaken key executive roles during periods of heightened systemic pressure in Greece, London, the United States, Cyprus, and the Balkans.

Particular emphasis in his professional career has been placed on the management of non-performing loans and on large-scale financial restructuring projects. During the international and Greek financial crisis, he undertook “special mission” roles, with mandates to stabilize financial institutions, strengthen corporate governance, and implement rapid corrective interventions, in cooperation with supervisory authorities and international institutions.